Rousing Send-Off Jan. 4 For 'Great Society' Plan

Storm Strikes In Northwest, Closes Roads

By The Associated Press
A mammoth snowstorm packing deadly winds churned through the Northwest today, driving temperatures far below zero in some areas and closing schools and roads.

The powerful storm — described by the Weather Bureau as almost unprecedented for late autumn — covered the entire northwestern quarter of the nation.

A Weather Bureau meteorologist in Helena, Mont., said "venturing out of doors is considered dangerous unless a person is thoroughly prepared."

A van carrying nine prisoners from the county jail in Seattle, Wash., to a reformatory tipped over on a snowy highway, but officials took no chances — a tow truck righted the vehicle with the prisoners still inside.

Trees Topped

Robert L. Brown Jr. was awakened by the howling winds in Bellevue, a suburb of Seattle. He rushed outside and moved his new station wagon from under his trees. But two of his neighbors' trees tumbled — one on his car and the other on his house.

Schools were closed in Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Washington State.

Visibility was cut to zero in blowing snow in some areas.

Heavy-snow warnings were in effect for Montana, Wyoming and North and South Dakota.

Winds at 35 miles per hour made life miserable in Cut Bank, Mont., where the temperature was —27. Tuesday. Unofficial lows in Montana included —40 in Havre and —38 at Summit, a mountain — top community Great Falls had a December record low of —24.

Dust Over Plains

Schools were closed in north-central Montana and U.S. 12 was blocked by blowing, drifting snow in the northwestern part of the state. Wind gusts hit 70 m.p.h. at Livingston, north of Yellowstone Park.

Huge clouds of dust floated over the plains of Kansas and Colorado. U.S. 87 north of Denver was closed for a period Tuesday after a series of auto accidents caused by dust. One pileup on Valley Highway in Adams County involved 12 to 15 cars.

Residents in Bear Valley, southeast of Denver, reported up to 4 inches of dirt accumulation. The Colorado Department of Agriculture said the winter wheat crop was hit hard. It also reported a shortage of cattle forage.

The freakish winds in eastern and northeastern Colorado reached gusts of 95 m.p.h. at one point. The low in Colorado was a paralyzing —31 in Alamosa.

Temperatures Drop

Winds of more than 80 m.p.h. toppled a brick wall in a residential section of Cheyenne, Wyo. The snowfall in Wyoming ranged from 6 to 12 inches, but more snow was falling and piled into deep drifts by strong winds. At Powell, on the storm's fringe, the temperature dropped from 27 above zero to 12 below in a matter of minutes.

New Mexico was hit by 72 m.p.h. winds, shifting snow into drifts.

Destructive winds accompanied by bitter cold belted Washington State, closing schools to an estimated 10,000 pupils. Snow falls ranged from 1 to 12 inches.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in North Dakota and northern Minnesota with up to 4 inches of new snow predicted, accompanied by strong winds and extreme cold temperatures.

Utah had cold-wave warnings. So did all of Kansas and northwest Missouri for today and tonight. Northwest Kansas had some flying dust which cut visibility.

Temperatures dropped to —48 over Alaska. Even the usually moderate Alaskan Panhandle reported sub-zero readings. Cold weather numbed New England as the temperature ranged from 10 above to —5 in some sections.

Son, 4, Drowned; Father Files $100,000 Suit

DETROIT (AP) — Terrance Thomson of Taylor Township, whose 4-year-old son, David, drowned in Kensington Lake last June 30, filed a $100,000 damage suit Tuesday against the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Thomson said his son drowned when he stepped off a road bed into seven feet of water. Water is three feet deep over the road bed, Thomson said, but drops to seven feet on either side and there were no "danger" signs until after the drowning.

Saigon Regime Cracking Under Hunger Strike

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's government showed signs today of cracking as 500 Buddhist monks and nuns began a 24-hour hunger strike.

Reliable sources reported that Phan Tan Chuc, education and cultural affairs minister, resigned this morning. He was in disfavor with the Buddhists.

Unconfirmed reports said some other ministers may resign.

The Buddhist hunger strike and one last weekend were aimed at toppling Premier Tran Van Huong's regime. Buddhist leader Thich Tam Chau declared today that bigger strikes would be planned if Huong "continues his lies and distortions against Buddhists and his attempts to disunify us."

Tam Chau, addressing 500 devotees inside the Buddhist Institute pagoda, said Huong was "becoming a dictator like Ngo Dinh Diem and is being helped by some foreigners."

This remark was aimed at the United States, which has been giving full backing to Huong.

Tam Chau charged Huong had tried to split the Buddhists by creating the Association of General Buddhism.

Tam Chau said the Buddhists would keep up a campaign of non-violence and non-cooperation until the Huong government is replaced.

Earlier Buddhist attempts to oust Huong through demonstrations and riots failed when the government sent troops and police against the rioters. The Buddhist leadership is trying to re-establish the powerful political position it held for a time after its major part in the overthrow of President Diem. Huong so far has refused to be pressured by the monks.

Johnson Books Prime Time On Air For Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's decision to deliver his State-of-the-Union message at a prime time television-radio hour on Jan. 4 indicates he plans a rousing sendoff for his "Great Society" program.

The White House announced Tuesday that the President will address the 89th Congress at 9 p.m. EST on the day it convenes.

That would follow a precedent set by Franklin D. Roosevelt in speaking at the same hour on Jan. 3, 1936. The difference will be that Johnson will be talking to a new Congress where FDR was addressing the second session of a Congress that had been at work a year.

Report To People

White House press secretary George Reedy said the unusual step was being taken because "the President considers this not only a report to Congress but a report to the American people."

Republicans were quick to note that the President had selected a prime television viewing hour. They suggested that Johnson was planning to try to rush through a legislative program.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he didn't know of any emergency that would require the President to come to Congress on his first day and force the holding of a night session.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, said he thinks "it's just politicking" for the President to speak at night.

"I suppose he wants to exploit prime radio and TV time and make a big show of it," Tower said.

Budget Figures Unlikely
However, Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said he didn't think it was a bad idea.

"It's a bit unusual but I think it will be all right," Young said.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, quipped that "coming at such a late hour, I trust his message will be illuminating."

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, said "the novelty of the hour is intriguing."

In response to other questions, Reedy said he didn't think it would be wise to anticipate that Johnson might include in the State-of-the-Union message any figures on budget expenditures for the next fiscal year, as he did last year.

No time has been set for sending the budget to Congress or for forwarding to it the annual economic report. The economic report has a Jan. 20 deadline but that also is Inauguration Day and thus it may be sent to Congress earlier.

ROOSEVELT IS IDOL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is picking up precedent from his political idol and tutor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the fields of official oratory and diplomatic niceties.

The White House announced Tuesday that:

—Johnson will deliver a nighttime address to Congress — and the people — on the State of the Union on Jan. 4 rather than the usual noon time report. Not since Roosevelt delivered a State-of-the-Union address at 9 p.m. on Jan. 3, 1936 — Johnson picked the same hour — has one been presented at night.

—From now on new ambassadors to the United States will be received in the executive mansion proper, instead of the presidential office in the west wing, to present their credentials. Eight of them did so Tuesday in the Blue Room. Roosevelt received envoys in the same room.

When Johnson speaks on the night of Jan. 4, he will be addressing the first session of the 89th Congress — an address that will be carried by television and radio networks.

It was the second session of the 74th Congress that Roosevelt addressed on that January night 29 years ago. His speech, broadcast by national radio networks, was a ringing defense of the New Deal and its policies and a stinging attack on its opponents. He declared "I recommend to Congress that we advance, that we do not retreat."

Donald C. Cook Likely Choice To Succeed Dillon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon has made tentative plans to resign within a few months, it was learned today.

His most likely successor: Donald C. Cook of New York, head of a large utilities firm and former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. He is 55.

Other names that have been mentioned for the post include

Native Son

Cook is a native of Escanaba and the son of Mrs. Nelson Cook of 517 S. 11th St. He is a graduate of Escanaba High School and holds degrees from the University of Michigan and George Washington University. Cook received the University of Michigan's business leadership award this year. The Cooks and their son reside in New York.

Donald C. Cook

Wall Street investment banking firm founded by his father.

Although he does not wear the same party label as President Johnson, Dillon contributed a considerable sum to Johnson's presidential campaign and there is no indication of a rift between the two men.

About two months ago, Johnson asked Dillon to stay in the office for an indefinite period and Dillon has now given what appears to be a final answer.

One reason for his desire to return to Wall Street is the illness of his father, Clarence Dillon. Some of his associates said he would not rule out a return to government service at some time in the future.

Reservists Told To Sit Tight For Switch To Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is advising reservists to sit tight and wait for the switch to the National Guard.

"Army reservists have nothing to do in preparation for the move except to continue to serve in their jobs and capacity, until the conversion is completed," it said.

Defense officials said Tuesday the National Guard will be expanded to a 550,000-man force wholly on a volunteer basis and that a Reserve unit could make the change to the Guard if 60 per cent to 70 per cent of its members agreed.

Starts July 1

In response to a series of questions, the Army among other things confirmed reports that the conversion is due to be completed by March 31, 1966. It will begin next July 1.

These were some other questions the Army answered:

Q. What happens to men who have amassed retirement points?

A. Individuals who are transferred to the active standby Reserve may continue to amass points for retirement although at a somewhat slower rate. If the individual is transferred to the inactive standby Reserve, he will not accrue further retirement points although he does not lose those which have been previously amassed.

McNamara Says NATO Now Has Enough Weapons

PARIS (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization now is so powerful in nuclear and conventional power that further large-scale investments in such weapons are unnecessary.

McNamara told NATO ministers that, generally speaking, present force goals of the alliance are adequate to meet aggression.

Except for a few countries, he said, increases in national defense budgets now are not needed.

Space Vehicle Put In Orbit By Italian Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Italian spacecraft dubbed San Marcos I and stamped "Launched in the U.S.A." is whirling around the earth every 95 minutes.

Italians are jubilant over the success of the 254-pound satellite which was rocketed into orbit by an Italian crew late Tuesday from the U.S. space agency's station at Wallops Island, Va.

With the space achievement, Italy becomes the third nation to orbit a satellite. Only the United States and the Soviet Union had orbited space vehicles previously.

"Now Italy has joined a select group of nations that have placed a satellite into orbit," said Sergio Fenoaltea, Italian ambassador to the United States. He thanked the United States for its assistance.

Deputy space administrator Dr. Hugh L. Dryden was the top U.S. representative present.

For the crew of 75 Italians, the successful launching capped an effort of more than two years, during which they had trained at various U.S. bases under an agreement between the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Italian Space Commission.

Under the terms of the agreement between NASA and the Italian commission, "no exchange of funds" was involved. Each country paid for the equipment it provided.

The 254-pound payload was actually a satellite within a satellite, with a light spherical shell covering a heavy metal sphere. Its mission is to study the ionosphere and measure atmospheric density at high altitudes.

Budget Huddle With Governor Called Helpful

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney and Democratic legislative leaders talked budget for three hours Tuesday, emerged smiling and called the discussion "helpful and friendly."

Both sides insisted no meaningful figures or decisions had been arrived at.

It appeared that issues which are likely to be controversial during the 1965 legislative session were not discussed deeply enough to cause much disagreement.

South Viet Nam Losses Heavy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese government troops last week suffered their highest casualties in eight months in the war against the Communist Viet Cong, a U.S. spokesman said today.

Government forces killed 550 Communist guerrillas, however, compared with 260 of their own dead.

A total of 985 government troops were killed or wounded, the spokesman said. The figure did not include the battle in An Lao valley, where casualties were reported heavy.

Thirteen Americans were killed in action last week.

The U.S. Army also increased its casualty total in the Viet Cong bombing of a U.S. barracks Monday in Thu Dau Mot.

First reports said four Americans wounded; the Army today said there were 13. Most of them incurred only minor wounds, the spokesman said.

New Leadership For House GOP Hinted In Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans meet today with talk of a change in leadership in the air, but nothing specific on the program.

Privately, several of the Republicans said they are sure a number of their colleagues would like to see Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana replaced as leader. So far nobody had stepped up to lead a revolt.

In any case, final action could not be taken until Jan. 4, when the newly elected and re-elected Republican members have their first caucus of the new session.

Officially, the Republican conference of old and new members scheduled speeches by Halleck and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, conference chairman and the member most often mentioned as a possible replacement for Halleck.

Tuesday night, Ford gave the talk of supplanting Halleck a little more substance by saying, "I have made no decision" on whether to challenge the Indiana.

However, the 49-year-old favorite of the Young Turks also told a reporter, "I have made a maximum effort to disassociate his leadership matter with the meeting tomorrow."

He added he has set no time when he may make a decision on whether to be a candidate for leader.

Most of the subjects listed for conference discussion had to do with the effort of the Republicans, who lost a net of 38 House seats in last month's election, to keep from being pushed too far to the wings of the congressional stage. There will be 140 Republicans in the new House compared to 295 Democrats.

In this category are long-standing Republican demands for the right to name more staff members directly responsible to the minority of House committees.

The conference also listed for discussion a proposal first made by some Democratic liberals and now backed by the leadership for a rules change that would prevent the House Rules Committee from delaying more than 21 days a bill the leadership wants brought up for action.

Newberry State Hospital To Be Picketed Friday

NEWBERRY (AP)—Employees at the Newberry State Hospital have voted to picket the institution Friday to protest suspensions given two hospital attendants for refusing to carry out orders.

The action was taken by members of Local 1356 of the Michigan State Employees Union at a meeting Tuesday night.

At dispute are five-day suspensions given to Mrs. Aune Painter and Mrs. Sharon Puckett, each of whom refused to go alone across the hospital grounds to check an uncovered and unlocked cottage, according to Robert Grosvenor, union president.

Grosvenor said the orders were issued on Dec. 1 by Fred Hunter, nursing director; and that on Dec. 9 some 150 workers signed a group grievance complaining about unsafe working conditions at the institution, which is primarily a hospital for the mentally ill.

Rotary Is Host To Handicapped

Crippled and handicapped children of the area who are students in special rooms at the John A. Lemmer School were guests of the Rotary Club at the annual Christmas luncheon, held Tuesday noon at the House of Ludington.

The Rotary Club has for many years sponsored a program of assistance to the children, including the operation of Rotary Camp Harstad on the Ford River shore. The party was the 18th annual event sponsored by Rotary and John A. Lemmer, former school superintendent, reviewed the history of Rotary's contributions to assist the children.

Robert Haack, Rotary president, welcomed the children and their teachers. Steve Baltic, Rotarian and Area High School principal, presented the members of the school staff at the luncheon.

Luther M. Barrett, superintendent; Orville Peterson, assistant superintendent; Anona Anderson, teacher in the ungraded room for 22 years; Paul Vardigan, teacher of the oral deaf, 7 years; Norma White, orthopedic, first year; Jean Yanitsky, orthopedic assistant, nine years; Howard Dufour, driver of the Rotary station wagon, 10 years.

Anita Kotila, school nurse, 8 years; Clarence Moore, physical therapist and Camp Harstad director, 17 years; Flemstrom, retired orthopedic teacher, 20 years; Elizabeth Leiper, retired sight-saving teacher, who could not be present.

The Rotary Camp Harstad counselors are Diane Anderson, Judy Moore, Karyl Johnson, James Moore and Kris Nyquist. The crippled and handicapped children were entertained with a program of songs by the 20-member chorus of the Luther Singers of Immanuel Lutheran Church, directed by the Rev. Gordon Thorpe.

Odd Wannebo, Norwegian bass, who will present a concert at Immanuel Lutheran Church at 7:30 tonight, arrived at the luncheon in time to sing two songs — a delightful addition to the program.

Climax of the party for the children was the arrival of Santa Claus and the distribution of gifts.

Van Pelt To Be Chancellor

HOUGHTON—Dr. J. R. Van Pelt, retiring president of Michigan Technological University, will become Tech's first chancellor on Jan. 1. The appointment was made by the Board of Control following the election of Dr. Raymond L. Smith as eighth president of the University.

Members of the Board said they had invited Dr. Van Pelt to remain on duty as chancellor because they wished to utilize his long experience in an advisory capacity during the transition period.

During Dr. Van Pelt's presidency, Michigan Tech has shown steady growth in all areas of operation. The University now has seven educational and research units in three locations. In a period when many engineering schools have suffered severe drops in enrollment, Tech's enrollment has increased 40 per cent to a record 3,600 and with a marked increase in graduate study.

The University has created three new units under Dr. Van Pelt's leadership—the Division of Continuing Education, Department of Biological Sciences and the Institute of Accounting Research. Four Bachelor of Science and four Master of Science degree programs have been added. Doctoral degree programs have recently been reinstituted and are now offered in four fields. Four-year degree programs are planned for the Sault Ste. Marie campus beginning in September, 1965, and a liberal arts degree program will begin then on the main campus at Houghton.

Puzzling Light Streams Toward Earth In Space

By ALTON BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Writer AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Exciting news has just reached our planet earth.

It may be tidings of the birth of a mysterious object toward the edge of the universe.

For perhaps five billion years the news has been racing through space at the speed of 186,000 miles per second.

The courier was light waves, produced by an apparent gigantic explosion long ago.

The news was picked up only three weeks ago in a picture taken with the giant 200-inch telescope on Mt. Palomar in California.

New Energy Source The picture showed that something had happened suddenly since a last look in that particular direction of the universe in 1962.

The distant light — still streaming toward earth — may be disclosing the story of the birth of one of the most puzzling of all heavenly bodies, says Dr. Allan R. Sandage of the Mt. Palomar and Mt. Wilson observatories.

The objects are known as quasi-stellar forces, abbreviated to QSF. They are an entirely new source and kind of energy in the universe.

They simply do not follow the rules or laws of physical forces that astronomers and other scientists have so far figured out.

Suddenly Visible They know why our sun keeps burning. They know that our sun is one of about 200 billion stars in a great family or galaxy—the Milky Way. They know there are billions of other huge galaxies.

But none can yet explain why the QSF's emit such prodigious energy — why they are trillions of times brighter than our own sun, why they broadcast so much radio energy, how or why they came about.

Only about 34 quasi-stellar sources have been identified so far, just within the last few years. Most of these were detected within the last year.

Dr. Sandage described the discovery to the second Texas Symposium of Relativistic Astrophysics, and amplified in an interview.

This year's new look with the 200-inch telescope brought the surprise. Now it was suddenly visible in blue light, as well as under a red filter. The sudden blue light visibility signified an explosion.

Statisticians estimate it cost $300 million in one year to clean litter from streets in urban communities of the U. S.

Bonehead English

First efforts to relate the developing War on Poverty to the Upper Peninsula's problems have indicated that after the first roundup of job trainees the going will be tougher. Manpower officials working on the problem have said that their recruitment of the school dropouts, hard core unemployed and other groups who are prospective beneficiaries of the War on Poverty say they're running into the need for basic education in many of the persons questioned.

It won't do much good to send to job training persons who are deficient in ability to understand English and some mathematics because then the means of job training are missing. There are also serious questions of motivation in solving the poverty situation, but let us point just the language difficulties of helping the school dropouts by citing the problem being encountered in schooling the young people who don't drop out, but who go on to college.

The colleges of the nation — and that means John Taxpayer to a considerable degree — are spending more than $10 million a year in what they call "bonehead" English courses. These courses are given to college freshman to teach them things they should have learned in high school. There are at least 150,000 such "bonehead" English students in American colleges each year.

The problem — and the bonehead English class efforts at correction — are found in colleges with low admission standards and in schools with highly selective admission policies. Not only that, but the colleges can't solve the problem well enough so that it doesn't plague some students throughout their matriculation and on into graduate school.

Chancellor Edward Strong of the University of California at Berkeley says "We have some students who have had calculus and other advanced math in high school, but who cannot write. You'd think they'd have some mastery of their mother tongue, but they don't." With language playing a vital role in 60-odd per cent of instruction, such deficiency is a serious handicap in learning.

Every college would like to get rid of bonehead English instruction. It takes time away from the professors' main job if they have to stop to tinker a student's English as well as the history, civics, or whatever that it is describing.

The University of Illinois abolished bonehead English in 1960 after giving high schools of the state four years warning. It says that the results have been good, although its rising admission standards may have helped keep out some of the English boneheads. And it still has an upper level bonehead English course because any student making less than a "B" in second semester freshman English has to take an exam in his sophomore year. About 60 per cent of students have to take the exam and about half of them flunk it.

The problem isn't solved yet by a country mile. And these aren't the dropouts or unemployed; these are bright young Americans who go to our colleges and universities! It is a gauge of the problem that the War on Poverty, or any similar uplift effort, tackles in refusing to accept a low income level for Americans. The concept is noble. The achievement is immensely difficult.

Debt Called Good

Debt is a "four-letter" word in the American vocabulary. This is especially so in regard to the national debt, that little-understood but much invoked symbol of government extravagance, waste, mismanagement and even downright immorality.

Thus it may shock many to hear a respected banker extol the positive benefits of deficit financing, both public and private. It is almost as if the preacher were to condone gambling.

Contending that "debt extension is needed for the health of the economy," Rudolph A. Peterson, president of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, recently attacked what he labeled four myths regarding debt.

1. ● The first myth: "Debt in the United States is too high."

One cannot say this, says Peterson, except when the negative effects of debt become unbearable and new debt can't be floated.

Although total debt (federal, state and local government and corporate and private) in this country passed the trillion-dollar mark in 1962, there is no dearth of credit, no signs of a credit breakdown.

2. ● "Debt has grown much more than our ability to pay it off."

This implies that the total debt could suddenly be called by the creditors, which is "extremely unlikely."

Even though the debt today is six times what it was in 1929, it costs roughly half as much today in terms of the "paying power" of goods and services to repay a dollar of debt than it did in 1929. It costs one-fourth as much in terms of worker productivity.

3. ● "The recent high growth of the federal debt is a major problem."

Actually, net federal debt at the end of fiscal 1963 — $307 billion — was not much higher than at the end of 1945. The government owns more in real and personal property assets than the debt — $315 billion.

While the federal debt rose 13 per cent between 1946 and 1963, or $9 billion, the state and local government rise was a little publicized 448 per cent, or $65 billion. This is reflected in a 326 per cent increase in state-local taxes in that period reported by the Tax Foundation.

One must turn to the business world to enter the realm of astronomical accounting: Private debt has grown by $613 billion since World War II. Here it is not called debt but "investment," and without it the economy would stagnate.

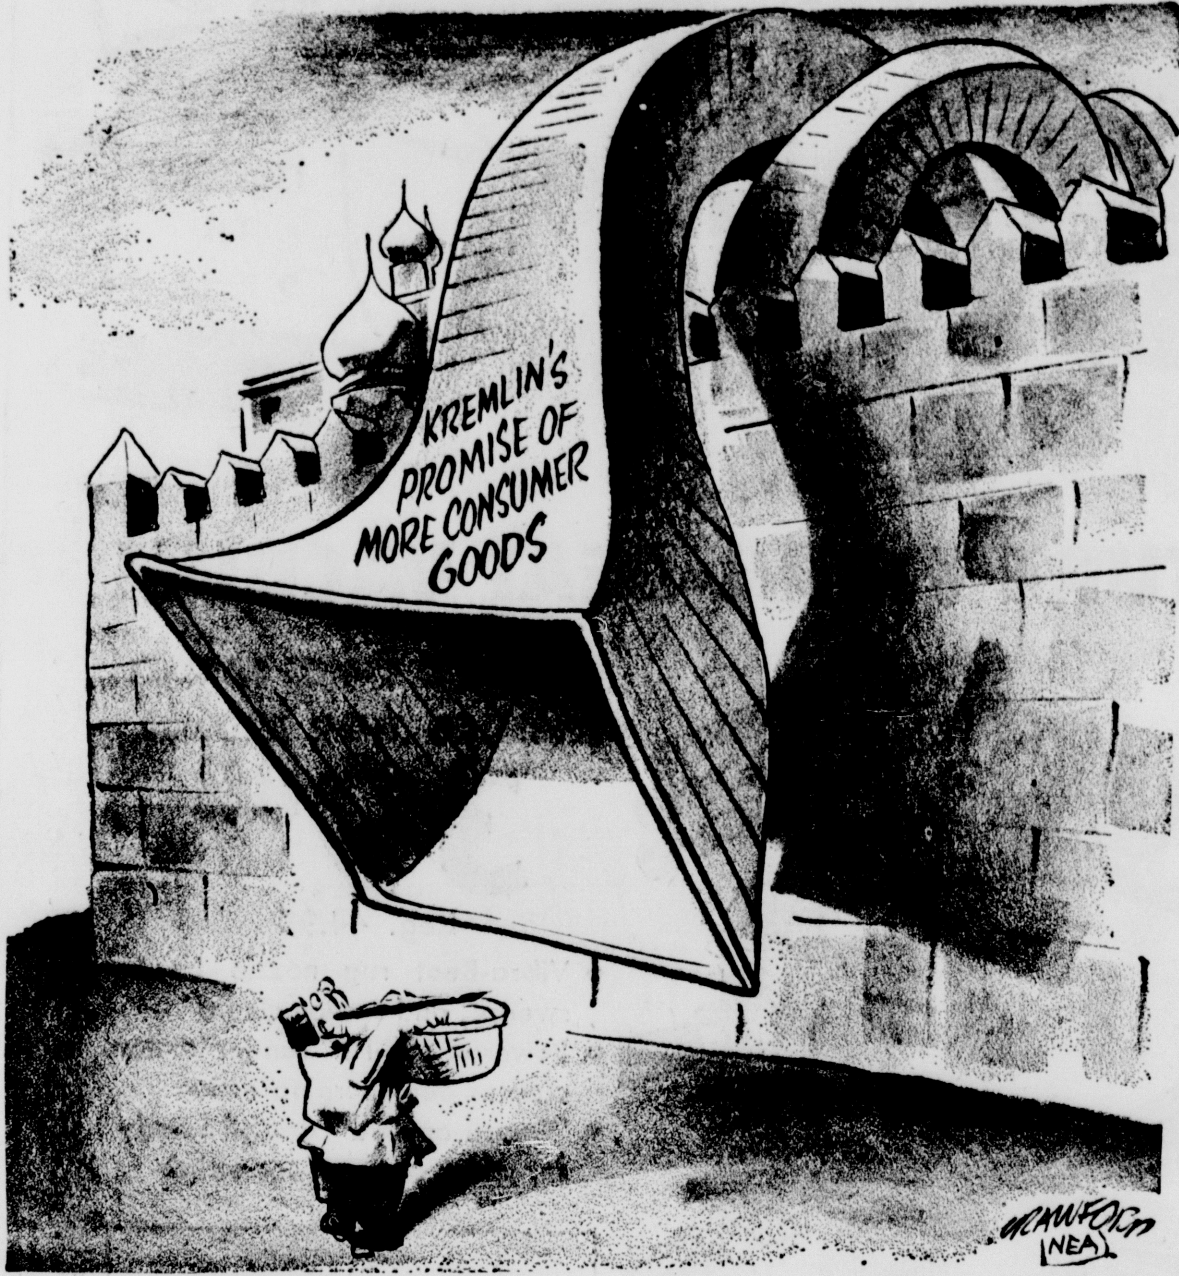

4. ● "Federal debt must be reduced or at least contained."

On the contrary, says Peterson, government obligations are an asset to their holders and in many cases facilitate private business transactions. There is no more reason for extinguishing federal debt than for prohibiting corporate debt.

"A gross federal debt of well over 300 billion dollars is awesome to contemplate," says Peterson. "Yet we must come to grips with the fact that a billion dollars or 800 billion dollars are units of counting with which we measure our economic universe in much the same way we use light years to measure the physical universe."

"Our economic universe is already immense and is growing with each passing day."

Johnson Fumbles

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Fujiyama—to stay fit, a fellow member of the cabinet, Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, plays squash. One of his frequent opponents is Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

"Sometimes when I'm playing McNamara," Freeman confides, "I'm tempted to talk shop and suggest that he allow me to decide which military bases to close while he determines the support price for soybeans. That would be what you might call a share-the-wrath proposal."

And some day, if I ever win a squash game, I'm going to offer such a proposal."

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has a habit of making quite limited appearances at some of the GOP's two and three-day party gatherings.

At the Denver Conference of Republican Governors, someone asked a Rockefeller aide when the governor would arrive for that Friday-Saturday affair.

Said he: "Early Friday."

Responded the questioner with a smile: "Will he stay all day?"

Attending the University of Arizona on the GI Bill after World War II, Udall joined several other veterans on the basketball team. They formed a good enough team to take Arizona to the National Invitation Tournament.

Udall's wife Lee recalls that her husband took a lot of ribbing on the court because of his age. Says she:

"Opponents were always shouting at him, 'Get out of here, you old codger! This is a young man's game!'"

Udall at the time was an ancient 25.

While Udall now climbs mountains — such as Japan's

Mount Fuji — he is still a very difficult matter, according to one White House staffer who is trying to extricate him.

"It's a very complex business," he says.

Evidently the President is not eager to see any important departures from his staff. He even made a last-minute effort to dissuade Ralph Dungan, White House personnel specialist now off to be the new U. S. ambassador to Chile, from leaving.

Says one source: "The President practically tried to pull Ralph off the boat!"

The Doctor Says:

Parkinsonism Affects 500,000

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Parkinsonism, or the shaking palsy, is sometimes called the disease that can't be hidden. It affects about 500,000 persons in the United States.

Although the cause is unknown, we know that in some instances heredity is a factor. In others, an attack of encephalitis earlier in life has been blamed. The disease usually has its onset between the ages of 45 and 60. Recent studies indicate that a deficiency of magnesium or some essential enzymes in the body may play a part in causing this disease.

The victim has tremors of the hands, legs and head which he can control for a few seconds by intense concentration. They do not continue when the victim is asleep. Even when the victim is severely disabled by the disease, he can be galvanized into effective control of his muscles by a cry of "Fire!" or other emergency but, as soon as the emergency is passed, he reverts to a state of relative helplessness.

The victim may give an impression of dullness because his facial muscles are stiff and his expression is fixed. Slow, monotonous speech adds to this impression, but actually these persons are mentally alert unless, of course, hardening of the arteries of the brain and other senile changes have caught up with them.

Treatment of this disease proceeds on two fronts—medical and surgical. But, although treatment may give improvement of some of the symptoms, it cannot produce a complete cure.

In most victims it is wise to change the drug given every few days. Of about 12 standard drugs for this condition, trihexyphenidyl (Artane and Tremin) is one of the best.

If this drug does not give some degree of improvement there may be a reasonable doubt that the patient has palinquin or other type of drug is sometimes given as supplementary treatment along with the standard drugs.

In any case, the treatment must be tailored to fit the individual and should be started early to prevent degeneration of the involved muscles. Meanwhile, surgeons have not been idle. Since the trouble has been localized in a small area of the brain, destroying this area is recommended for far advanced stages. This can be accomplished in several ways.

Several years ago Dr. Irving Cooper of New York began using freezing for this purpose. He has steadily improved his technique in carefully selected patients, some of them in their 70s, and has had excellent results in about 90 per cent.

He will not, however, use this method on patients who show signs of premature aging, mental deterioration or great physical weakness. Once again modern advances are bringing new hope to the victims of a common and disabling disease.

Dairy Farmers' Income Rises

There were fewer dairy farmers producing milk in the Upper Peninsula in November than a year ago, but they made more money as the survivors continued the trend toward larger farm operations.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, which administers the U. P. Milk Marketing Order, reports that the blend (average) price of milk was $4.182 a hundredweight compared with $4.03 a year ago.

Total production was 9,052,692 pounds compared with 8,894,702 and 81.26 per cent of it went into Class I (drinking milk) market compared with 85.81 per cent a year ago.

The total number of producers slipped by 36 farms in the year as the number of tank producers increased from 367 to 374 and the number of can producers slipped from 193 to 162. The average 7 day income of producers was $173.78, which was 17.13 above last November, and total income was $399,202, up $13,249.

Ann Landers

Why Hold Back Talking Of Sex?

Dear Ann Landers: Last Sunday our family drove over 100 miles to visit my brother, his wife and their newborn son. Midway through dinner my sister-in-law left the table to take care of her infant. When we finished the meal we all went back to the bedroom to say good-bye.

There sat my sister-in-law breast feeding her baby. Since then our children who are 11, 9, 7 and 5 years of age have been bothering me with questions about sex.

I am furious with my sister-in-law for placing me in this embarrassing position. I hadn't figured on mentioning sex to my children until they were older. This stupid woman KNEW we were leaving for home right after dinner. Why couldn't she have waited another 30 minutes?

I'd like to take this matter up with her but I don't know what to say. She reads your column religiously so will you please lambaste her for rudely leaving the table and behaving in this repulsive manner in front of my children? — DISGUSTED

Dear Disgusted: I see nothing rude or repulsive in your sister-in-law's behavior but I see much that is ignorant and foolish in yours.

She was seeking privacy and you invaded her room. So why criticize HER? Furthermore, if your children don't know how life begins and how infants are nourished by their mothers, it's time they learned.

You say you planned on telling them when they were "older." How much older? You are 7 years too late with that 11-year-old right now.

Ask your doctor for some literature to guide you. And get going, or you'll have four kids who are as mixed up as you are, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine whom I will call Mrs. R. asked if she could borrow my card table set.

Three weeks later Mrs. R. started divorce proceedings. I didn't want to bother her about my table and chairs at that time. The next I heard she had moved into an apartment. That was last July.

Yesterday I telephoned Mrs. R. and asked her to please return my card table set. She said, "I did. Immediately after the party." I asked "to whom," and she replied, "I left them on your porch."

I'm so burned up I'd like to take her to court. Should I? — FAVOR-DO-ER

Dear Do-er: Mrs. R. should not have left the card table set on the porch. A person of integrity would have offered to buy you a new set, but obviously she is a cipher.

Suing her would mean expense, trouble, and additional irritation. Forget it. And forget about HER, too.

Dear Ann Landers: How can I keep my sanity when the boy I love turns up at a dance with a girl I hate?

I have loved Jimmie since the third grade. The girl he took to the dance Saturday wouldn't pour a glass of water on him if he were on fire — then she found out I was crazy about him and went all out to take him away.

This cheap little flirt has done the same thing to two other girls. The only boys she wants are the ones who belong to someone else.

Why would a boy drop a fine girl like me for a terrible person like her? Seeing them together tears me up something awful. How can I get Jimmie back? — ROBBED FROM

Dear From: The girl didn't knock him over the head and drag him off, did she? I don't believe a boy friend can be "stolen." It's a lost cause unless Jimmie decides on his own that he prefers you after all.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — and How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

A bullfrog sang hymns in a rich bass voice.

Synopsis: The turtle and the Snowman arrive at the Festival. The turtle explains to Santa that he is worried about the Prince and doesn't want to sing until he arrives. Suddenly Womp appears.

CHAPTER ELEVEN THE FESTIVAL

NO ONE at the Music Festival paid any attention to Womp as he squeezed his way into the back of the audience. But George, the Singing Turtle, shivered suddenly under his shell and felt the way turtles feel when they know danger is near.

"There's something about him I do not like," he whispered to the Snowman. "Why do they let him in?"

"He is a musician," said the Snowman. "See, he carries a flute in his hand."

"He doesn't look like a musician," grumbled George. "He doesn't even look as if he likes music!"

Santa was on the stage welcoming everyone to the Festival. He wished everyone a Merry Christmas and said it was too bad the Festival had to be on Christmas Eve when they were all so busy, but he hoped it would make Christmas all the merrier.

He told how long and hard

Detroit School To Ban Drinkers

DETROIT (AP) — In one of the strongest crackdowns on student drinking in public school history, the principal of Detroit's Denby High School has warned that students who come to school functions after drinking will be taken to a police station.

Parents will be called by the police, Principal Irvin Wolf said in a letter sent to 2,700 families, and students will be suspended from school immediately.

Wolf said his decision to act before the holidays was prompted by "sadness at the thought that one or more of our students will be involved in an accident in which drinking is a factor."

The antidrinking campaign, he added, is based on a joint decision on the part of concerned students, parents, faculty and himself.

"I consider it a serious problem," he said. "We conducted a sample survey among 300 sophomores, juniors and seniors and discovered...that 61 per cent of the student body has drunk liquor at sometime or another."

Governor Must Name Successors For Emergencies

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare injected a somber note into pre-inauguration preparations Tuesday.

Hare reminded top state officials that the governor must appoint three emergency interim successors within 30 days of his inauguration, and that the others must file a list of five emergency successors within three days of taking office.

The successors are required under a state law designed to ensure the continuance of state government in the event of nuclear attack.

Other state officials involved include the lieutenant governor, the secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer, highway commissioner, superintendent of public instruction, auditor general and "all state officials whose powers and duties are defined by the constitution or statutes," Hare said.

Not included in the list are legislators, justices and civil service employees.

State Briefs

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Some 2,500 music teachers, students and others are expected to attend the 20th annual Midwestern Conference on School Vocal and Instrumental Music at the University of Michigan Jan. 15-16.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $138,000 advance to plan a sewer system for Algonac, a portion of Clay Township, St. Clair County, Mich., was announced Tuesday by the Community Facilities Administration. Estimated cost of the project is $5,156,000.

Mental Patient Asks New Trial

LANSING (AP) — Charles P. English, found mentally ill after he barged into the office of Gov. George Romney last May with a loaded gun in an attaché case and a knife on his person, has asked for a new trial.

A pre-trial hearing tentatively has been scheduled for Dec. 21 in Ingham County Circuit Court of Miami, Fla., and Bogota, Columbus, English was seized by Jay Kennedy, a State Police body guard, when he invaded the governor's inner office. Romney was unhurt.

Romney said at the time that English claimed he wanted Romney to run for President on the national ticket with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. English later variously claimed to be a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Central Intelligence Agency, but both federal agencies disclaimed him.

English was a former member of the Dade County Republican Committee in Florida and an unsuccessful candidate for the Florida State Senate in 1963.

He was found mentally ill and ordered committed to the Kalamazoo State Hospital by Probate Judge James Kallman following a trial at which the witnesses included the governor. Two psychiatrists testified they

Board Meets For Last Time

LANSING (AP)—The 1963-64 State Administrative Board met for the final time Tuesday amidst unusual cordiality and questions as to who'll be back next year.

Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John

found English mentally ill and in need of hospital care and treatment.

John Dethmers, assistant Ingham County prosecutor, said English has an automatic right for appeal for a new hearing

Lesinski, often a foe of Gov. George Romney, said he thought the board had functioned well considering it had a Republican presiding over seven Democrats.

"We agreed more often than the board did with the legislature or the executive branch with the legislature or even the legislature itself," he said.

"I hope you stir up justice as much as you stirred up other things," said Romney. Lesinski will become chief judge of the appeals court.

"I'm an easy-going guy," retorted Lesinski. Secretary of State James Hare moved that a memento be prepared for Lesinski and Romney asked if they shouldn't also go to Auditor General Billie Farnum and Highway Commissioner John Mackie, who are leaving for Congress.

The board finally moved to present mementoes to anyone who's leaving it.

Hogberg Named Venezuela Mine Firm President

Pittsburgh—Francis Thomas, president of Orinoco Mining Co., Venezuela, since it began production in 1954, has been named vice president—special technical assignments of United States Steel Corp., and the directors of Orinoco Mining have elected Carl G. Hogberg to succeed him as president of the Company. Both changes are effective Jan. 1.

Thomas' broad experience in this field includes association with Orinoco Mining through its construction phase. Orinoco Mining began production 10 years ago, and has grown to be a major supplier of iron ore in the world market.

Before joining U. S. Steel, Thomas was vice president of S. J. Groves & Sons, an international engineering firm of Minneapolis. He joined the Orinoco Mining in 1950 as vice president, and was responsible for much of the construction of the company's facilities, and for development of the Cerro Bolivar iron ore deposits.

Hogberg's wide experience includes the production and transportation of raw materials, as well as iron and steel production. He was graduated from Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, in 1935, and began his business career with U. S. Steel that same year, starting as a blast furnace apprentice at South Chicago Works. He moved to Pittsburgh in 1941 to work on blast furnace raw materials and quality control problems.

In 1953, he was transferred to the Michigan Limestone Division, and five years later became its president. In a reorganization of U. S. Steel on Jan. 1, 1964, Hogberg returned to Pittsburgh as vice president—raw materials services of U. S. Steel.

Hogberg has prepared a number of technical articles on blast furnace design and operation that have been published in national and international publications. He also holds several patents in this field and has been active on various iron and steel industry technical committees.

In 1945, he received the J. E. Johnson Award of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and in 1950 was honored by a Kelly Award from the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers for his technical contributions to the steel industry.

He is a member of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, the Blast Furnace and Coke Oven Association of the Chicago District, Eastern States, Western States, and Detroit District Blast Furnace and Coke Oven Associations, Association of Iron and Steel Engineers, and American Iron and Steel Institute.

Now residents of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Hogberg will move to Venezuela shortly after Jan. 1.

(Carl Hogberg is a native of Escanaba, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Claus Hogberg. The father was an employee of the Chicago & North Western Railway here and Carl Hogberg was the speaker at the Chicago

Lawrence Leads Michigan Week

Appointment of William Lawrence of Quinnesec as the Region 2 chairman for promotional materials for the 1965 Michigan Week was announced today by Keith Forsberg, Region 2 chairman and Donald Butcher, executive secretary of Michigan Week for Region 2.

Lawrence was born in Northern Menominee County and graduated from Powers-Spalding High School in 1944. He is a veteran of Navy service, attended the University of Michigan from 1947 to 1951 and received a Bachelor of Science degree in forestry. He spent several years in pipe-line construction, which took him through all parts of Northern United States and Canada doing engineering and supervisory work. He was also employed by Kimberly-Clark in Quinnesec for several years prior to accepting the executive manager position for the Iron Mountain Chamber of Commerce in 1963. Lawrence and his wife, Coreen, reside with their four children in Quinnesec.

The 12th annual observance of Michigan Week will have for its theme "Michigan—Dynamic in World Progress." The idea is to highlight Michigan's growing world trade and the part Michigan people and institutions play in world affairs, also to publicize and sell Michigan around the world. Every community is being asked to help carry out this program.

Lawrence will work with county chairmen in attempting to publicize the Michigan Week endeavor through the use of promotional materials provided by the Greater Michigan Foundation.

Driver Injured In Accident On Memory Lane

One driver was hurt and another escaped injury in an unusual early-morning traffic accident today on Memory Lane, west of Escanaba on U. S. 2-41.

Mrs. Mary Alice Kidd, 37, of Escanaba Rte. 1, suffered bruises and was taken to St. Francis Hospital. Her condition is reported as good.

Unhurt was William J. Leach, 19, of Old State Road, who was ticketed by Escanaba police for driving too fast for conditions at 1:05 a. m.

Police reported that Leach, going east, approached the rear of a truck at about 55 miles an hour, applied his brakes and went out of control. His car struck a tree and then swung back onto the highway and came to a stop.

Mrs. Kidd could not halt her car in time to avoid colliding with the Leach auto. Her car careened off the roadway and came to rest against a tree 100 feet east of the point of collision.

One of the cars had a gas tank punctured. Firemen were called and stood by, but there was no fire.

Wannebo To Give Wide-Ranging Song Program

Songs ranging from religious compositions and operatic arias to folk songs of Norway and the spirituals of the American Negro will be presented by Odd Wannebo, Norwegian bass, in a concert at Immanuel Lutheran Church, 600 S. 23rd St., at 7:30 tonight.

The accompanist will be Mrs. John Chown of Escanaba, rather than Mrs. Pearl St. Clair, a substitution made necessary because Mrs. St. Clair is indisposed.

The public is invited, there will be no admission charge, but an offering will be received.

Among legislative benefits to blind persons in the United States is the "one-fare travel concession" which makes it possible for a blind person and his seeing attendant to travel on one ticket.

SANTA CLAUS surprised children of Washington School this week by turning up as morning safety patrol at the intersection of Stephenson Ave. and 2nd Ave. N. With him here prior to escort across the street are Debbie and Donna King, twin six-year-old first graders. As usual, Santa (Kenton Olson, 1412 1st Ave. N.) brought along a few Christmas "goodies" and the twins, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James King, 224 N. 19th St., are getting their share. ## Santa Claus Is Traffic Stopper For School Tots People driving downtown in the morning from north Escanaba this week had a surprise waiting at the intersection of Stephenson Ave. and 2nd Ave. N.

Dressed in his North Pole finery, Santa Claus was directing traffic.

The rolly-poly gent in the red and white suit was Kenton Olson, 1412 1st Ave. N., occupationally a bakery route salesman. But for fun two weeks before Christmas he is Santa Claus to all the school children in the Escanaba area.

His traffic patrol for school-bound tots of the Washington

School, however, is strictly extra-curricular.

"I came by the corner last fall and found a couple of kids sitting on the curb crying," he said. "They were afraid to cross the street so I stopped and took them across. Pretty soon there were other children waiting. I took them across, too."

"Now, I guess it's become a regular job."

Olson said the children used to be shepherded across the street by Washington School mothers. When they stopped he became concerned.

"It'll be a little better now that our trains have stopped running," he said.

Chicago & North Western Railroad tracks cross Stephenson Ave. a block and a half north of the intersection. Olson pointed out, "When all that traffic started coming in a rush after a train had passed it was impossible for those kids to get across the street."

This week, despite his Santa Claus role, Olson didn't forget the children at that intersection.

"I told them last week that Santa Claus would be here but not too many of them believed me," he said. "There were a lot of surprised faces Monday morning."

"I've had a lot more children to watch, too," he said.

Tuesday morning after the children, many of them clutching a bit of candy or a comic book in their hands, were all safely off to school, Santa Claus visited the John F. Kennedy School for retarded children.

Jingle bells ringing, Santa scored an immediate hit with the 13 students. In a half hour he was off for Wells.

"You have to love children to do this," Olson said. "I can never get mad at kids, even if 50 of them are screaming at once."

Olson, whose own four children have grown up now, takes two weeks of his vacation each December to "Bring Santa Claus to the schools." This is his 6th season as school Santa and 11th since he first donned the red suit.

This year he is sponsored by Teamsters Local 328.

"I've thought about quitting," he said. "But I just can't bring myself to do it. I get something out of those smiling faces that I can't get anywhere else. "Merry Christmas."

Nursing Career Preparation Gets School Stress

Information describing opportunities and education in the field of nursing has just been released to principals of all junior and senior high schools in Michigan. Two brochures, "Guide for Counselors—Nursing as a Career" and a directory "State Approved Schools of Nursing in Michigan" were described this week by the Michigan League for Nursing, a member agency of the Michigan United Fund.

Increasing numbers of young people are seeking admission to schools that prepare the registered nurse, yet may find they lack the required high school prerequisites, announcing the new publications and information services of the League, it explained, "We feel that nursing may be losing many fine candidates. Some of these young people might have qualified, had they taken the proper courses in high school and demonstrated ability to master higher education courses, particularly in the sciences and communications skills."

Students and parents may have single copies on request to the Michigan League for Nursing, Room 216, 51 Warren Ave., Detroit 48201.

Marquette Has Record Year In Ore Shipping

MARQUETTE—The Champion, a Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. ship, left Monday with a 13,495 ton load of ore to wind up a record shipping season here.

This year, 545 ships carried away 6,975,991 tons of ore, passing the previous records of 480 carriers loaded with 5,691,420 tons set last year. The 1963 mark had surpassed the 1941 total of 5,658,672 tons of ore.

The nearly seven million ton season was attributed to increased productivity on the Marquette range, due largely to pellet plants, and strong markets for pelletized ore.

The season opened Apr. 12. Last year's shipping season began Apr. 25 and closed Dec. 4.

Corn Disease Is Feared Downstate

EAST LANSING — A new disease which can completely destroy corn crops may soon be heading into Michigan. And scientists are working earnestly to bar the door against it. Called "Maize Dwarf Mosaic," the disease is caused by a virus and transmitted by corn leaf aphids. It has already ruined corn crops in Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Ohio and other central and southern states.

"To get an idea just how fast the disease is moving, you need only look at the Ohio situation," reports E. C. Rossman, Michigan State University crop scientist. "Two years ago the disease was reported in only two fields in all of Ohio. This year, disease symptoms have been found in all but six counties.

"We haven't identified the disease in Michigan as yet, but we know that it is mighty close — probably just across the border. We also know that there is no fence yet built that can keep it out of the Wolverine State."

But there is one "fence" that could be "constructed" to protect Michigan corn growers. It's District Attorney and as deputy city attorney and also was a city charter commission member in 1951, died Tuesday at Butterworth Hospital. He was admitted last Friday after suffering a stroke at his home.

MUSKEGON (AP) — Muskegon Telephone of Michigan, which services 307,500 instruments in 55 of the state's 83 counties, announced Tuesday that it has spent more than $15.4 million this year for service improvements. It marks the ninth consecutive year in which the firm has maintained an average construction budget of more than $1 million per month with the total company investment now standing at more than $137.5 million.

called "disease resistance." Rossman has already begun a search for Michigan-adapted varieties that are not susceptible to the disease. He notes that some resistant varieties have been found, but most of these are too late in maturity for Michigan.

More Asked For U.P. Tour Ads

LANSING — A budget totaling $928,556 to promote vacation travel in Michigan during the 1965-66 fiscal year has been requested by the Michigan Tourist Council to boost spending on direct advertising from $500,000 to $376,500.

The budget request, which has been submitted to the state budget director, also increases the amount available for the production of literature to a record $85,450 from $50,300 in the current fiscal year.

The overall budget for the current fiscal year is $691,096 which includes grants to Michigan's four regional tourist associations totaling $140,000 in matching funds. These grants are available only for direct advertising and promotional expenses.

The 1965-66 request would increase the grants to the regional associations to a total of $160,000, including $40,000 for the Upper Michigan Tourist Association instead of the current $30,000 a year.

In other action the Council gave final approval to the largest winter and spring-summer advertising campaigns in history and reviewed the successful autumn campaign which produced requests for Michigan vacation information at record levels.

The spring-summer campaign is designed to make more use of full-color magazine advertisements than ever before with appeals based on Michigan's varied historical, natural and man-made attractions.

Temperatures dropped to 30 below zero and winds howled up to 70 miles an hour. Schools closed and travel was virtually abandoned.

Luther Hodges Leaves Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced today the resignation of Luther H. Hodges as secretary of commerce and named as his successor New Jersey industrialist John T. Connor.

Connor, who will take over the commerce post Jan. 15, has been president of the New Jersey drug manufacturing firm of Merck & Co. Inc. since 1955.

The executive, 50, was active in business groups supporting Johnson during the presidential election campaign.

Hodges has been secretary of commerce since the start of the Kennedy administration in January 1960. He told Johnson he had planned to remain in the post only four years because he soon will be 67 years old.

Johnson, flanked by Hodges, Connor, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and AFL-CIO President George Meany, called reporters to the White House theatre to announce the Cabinet change.

Changes Made In Stock Show

Additional changes in the Junior Live Stock Show for the 1965 Upper Peninsula State Fair were announced today by Erling Arntzen, chairman of the Board of Managers.

Listed among the changes are the dropping of the Beef Grading Contest and payment of premiums for "rate of gain" in the Fat Stock Show. The Board of Managers had previously ruled that only single entries of fat steers sold at auction during Fair Week would be accepted for the 1965 Fair.

Chairman Arntzen also said that the American system of judging would be employed for fat steers replacing the Danish system usually used for 4-H and FFA projects.

An innovation for the 1965 Fair will be the addition of a "carcass class" for Junior exhibitors. Under this program two steers from each county may be entered at the Fair and will be first judged on the hoof, then slaughtered and judged on carcass. The Fair will make arrangements to display the carcasses which will be sold after the Fair.

It is believed that the educational value of such a program will assist Junior livestock exhibitors in developing feeder calf programs in the future.

Changes in the beef program came about as the result of recommendations from the U. P. State Fair Beef Committee which met recently in Escanaba. Members of the Beef Committee which met recently in Escanaba were Grey Knaus, Cornell; Eugene Peterson, Daggett; Kenneth Ray, Carney; Roy Dalgard, Fayette; Henry Wylie, Escanaba; Larry Bradford 4-H County Extension Agent and assisting the group was Dr. Ralph Morrow, MSU Extension Specialist in Animal Husbandry.

Junior exhibitors are reminded that to enter either the Fat Stock Show or the "carcass class" they must purchase and identify their calves no later than Feb. 15, 1965. Additional information on the programs may be obtained from local County Extension Agents, Arntzen said.

Other members of the Board of Managers are Ruth G. Butler, Houghton; Kemp H. Brown, Munising; Carl P. Hansen, Wallace; Robert W. Davis, St. Ignace and Ray LaPorte, secretary-manager. The 1965 Fair will be held Aug. 17-22.

Savings In Shoe Sifted Out Of City's Rubbish

HAMTRAMCK (AP) — For months, Frank Bolek of Hamtramck saved what he could from his weekly paycheck to buy Christmas gifts for his wife and four children. Bolek scrimped until he had $330.

He hid it in the toe of an old shoe.

His wife threw out the shoe with some other rubbish.

When Bolek found out what happened, he phoned the Hamtramck garbage collection department and outlined his problem.

Seven workers volunteered to give up their lunch period to help out. They sifted through 40,000 pounds of rubbish before they found the shoe and returned it to Bolek.

HONORS—Con Yagodzinski was honored with a berth on the all-tournament team following Northern's victory over Ferris, 85-69, in the college cage tourney at Marquette over the weekend. Yago contributed 37 points in Northern's two tourney games. Joining the 6 foot 5 inch sophomore on the all-tourney team were Northern's Gene Summers, Bernie Kilpatrick of Ferris, Dennis Alexander and Gary Fewless of Aquinas and Larry Laurich of Michigan Tech.

KEGLER — Bernadette Verhamme made the bowling honor roll at Gladstone in the Wednesday Midnight League with a 606 series on games of 214, 179 and 213. She carries a 156 average, tops in the league.

AGAIN—Bruce Pesola, a shifty guard on Coach Fred Boddy's Marquette Baraga cage team, did it again. Pesola flipped in a field goal at the buzzer to give the Royals a 59-57 victory over previously undefeated Negaunee. It was the fourth time this season that Pesola has provided the Royals with their margin of victory. His final second baskets edged Calumet and Holy Name and a field goal and two free throws sent Gwinn to defeat in previous games. Against Negaunee, a team that won four straight previous starts, Pesola finished with 23 points.

TOUGH—Great Lakes Conference basketball teams continue to have tough going against outside competition. In 13 non-conference games up to this week, Great Lakes teams have won 4 and lost 9. Sault Ste. Marie joined the club by taking an 87-41 whipping from Alpena, a downstate Class A powerhouse. Alpena's Wildcats outscored the Blue Devils 38 to 11 in the field goal department.

STAR—One of the best of the large school basketball players operating in the Peninsula this season is Paul Albright, 6 foot 3 inch senior at Marquette. Albright came through with 36 points and a field goal with five seconds to go in a 64-62 victory over Gwinn. The losers had one more field goal than the winners, but Marquette converted 14 of 17 gift attempts to make up for it. John Fallon topped Gwinn with 24 points.

AUGUSTANA—After closing the books on a highly successful football season, in which he served as an assistant coach at Augustana College in Rock Island, Ill., Max Peterson is now serving as assistant swimming coach. A 1962 graduate of Augie, Max received his MA degree from the University of Minnesota last summer. The former Gladstone athlete earned three letters in football and four in tennis at Augustana.

FROSH—After four games on the Michigan Tech basketball varsity squad this season, freshman Ken Seibert has hauled down 30 rebounds and scored 34 points. The 6 foot 7 inch former Eskymo is second on the squad in rebounds and fifth in scoring. John Olson, a senior from Escanaba, has contributed 14 points and 20 rebounds.

CANCELED — The Marquette Iron Rangers Hockey Club has announced cancellation of the appearance of the Russian Olympic team in Marquette, originally scheduled for Dec. 23. Although ticket sales were near the point where the guarantee of $3,500 could have been reached, officials reported they have learned the Russians had split their team into two squads, one touring the United States and the other touring Canada. They felt it would not be fair to fans who purchased tickets to see the entire Russian Olympic team. Refunds will be made to ticket buyers.

RECORD—Gogebic College soared to a 108-92 victory over Brainerd to set a school scoring record in Northern Junior College Conference action. Five Gogebic players hit in double figures, led by Martin Robertson with 27, as the Samsons won their third straight.

SETBACK—The Mass Rockets handed Trout Creek its first Porcupine Mountain Conference setback of the season, 67-62. Trout Creek's Bob Gale, 6 foot 4 inch junior, took individual scoring honors with 22 points.

POWERS-SPALDING — The Hermansville Redskins gave a demonstration of their deadly shooting accuracy here Tuesday night enroute to a 72-61 triumph over arch rival Powers-Spalding in a Little Seven Conference contest.

Coach Don Hill's undefeated Redskins let fly with 47 shots from the field and hit the target with 27 of them for a blistering 57 per cent. From the free throw line they canned 18 of 29 attempts.

The victory was the fourth straight for Hermansville this season, three of them in Little Seven competition. The defeat was the second in a row for the Tigers after three straight opening triumphs.

Cardinals Trade For Francona

By The Associated Press
The world champion St. Louis Cardinals have turned Tito Francona into a last-minute Cinderella, acquiring the veteran outfielder from Cleveland just before the clock struck midnight Tuesday and ended major league baseball's inter-league trading period.

The Francona transaction, in which the Indians will get a player to be named later in addition to an unannounced amount of cash, was the 13th made during the month-long period in which National and American league clubs can trade with each other.

Another Power Suffers Upset

By The Associated Press
College basketball's upper echelon is fast becoming a scrap heap — and the hungry Hawks of St. Joseph's, Pa., are doing their share of the plundering.

The Philadelphia quintet, which ran Davidson out of the Top Ten 10 days ago, knocked off seventh-ranked St. John's of New York 71-56 Thursday night with a stifling zone defense that limited the visiting Redmen to 16 second-half points. St. John's first loss in four starts left only two nationally ranked teams — No. 3 San Francisco and No. 4 Minnesota — with perfect records. The Hawks, behind sophomore Matt Goukas Jr., opened the second half with a 13-1 surge that wiped out a 40-39 deficit and put the Redmen behind to stay. Goukas hit for eight points during the rally. Goukas finished with 17 points, one less than teammate Billy Oakes. Ken McIntyre hit 19 for St. John's.

Villanova, St. Joseph's ambitious Philadelphia neighbor, matched the Hawks' 5-0 mark with a 95-60 romp over Toledo. Rick Barry scored his first point at 12:09 of the first half but still finished with 39 as Miami of Florida outtraced visiting St. Mary's, Calif., 89-77. Barry's 11 field goals and 18 rebounds set Miami career records of 571 and 922, respectively.

Penn State pulled away from Gettysburg with a burst of 10 successive points midway through the second half and whipped the home team 53-39. Skip Thoren pumped 16 of his 19 points in the first half, triggering Illinois to a 70-56 decision over Wisconsin in the Big Ten conference opener at Madison, Wis.

The Citadel boosted its top Southern Conference record to 3-0 by nipping Richmond 76-75 on Herwig Baumann's jump shot with 12 seconds left in the second overtime period. Fred Hetzel scored 26 points and Dick Snyder, 23, leading Davidson past VMI 91-69 for a 2-0 Southern Mark.

Eben Fashions Sixth Victory In CL Action

BARK RIVER-HARRIS — The Eben Eagles captured their sixth straight Central League basketball victory here Tuesday, topping the battling Bark River-Harris Broncos 80-61 in a foul filled contest.

Officials whistled a total of 64 personal fouls, 36 of them on C. B. Roels' Broncos who lost all five of their starters before the war was over.

The players beat a steady path to the free throw line as the result of the rough contact action. They stepped up for 93 foul shots and made 59 of them.

The Eagles were deadly from the line, cashing in on 32 of 52 attempts. The Broncos converted 27 of 41.

Coach Jim Depew of Eben again used his two-platoon system, alternating two units every four minutes until late in the game.

Depew's system does not lead to outstanding individual scoring performances, but the balanced attack more than makes up for it. Eben had 12 players in action and all of them contributed to the point total. Bill Carlson again set the pace with 16 points.

Individual scoring honors were taken by Jim Hooker, playing his first game for the Broncos. The 6-4 1/2 junior tossed in six field goals and nine free throws for 21 points.

The Broncos made a determined effort to stop the Eagles

Tulsa's Passer Is Back Of Year

By The Associated Press
Tulsa's Jerry Rhome and Notre Dame's John Huarte were so close in the voting for college football Back-of-the-Year honors that one fellow voted for both of them.

But Rhome, who set almost as many records as the guide book typesetters, got the narrow nod in the annual Associated Press poll.

When the count of sports writers and broadcasters was completed, Rhome had 42 1/2 votes and Huarte 39 1/2.

Bob Timberlake of Michigan was the only other player in double figures. He got 16.

Rhyme set 10 college records for moving the football before he even played his last game for Tulsa and added seven more — and a little scratching around among the figures will probably locate a few more.

The Tulsa star set records for pass completions, touchdown passes, yards passing and total offense for a season — among others — as he led the nation's late in the third quarter and cut their deficit to eight points at 58-50, but Eben scored a flurry of buckets early in the final period to cement the decision.

Eben won the jayvee game, 31-27.

Baseball Sells Package TV Saturday Spectacular

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball has stuck its finger in the lucrative television pie for the first time on a multi-club basis, pulling out a $12.2-million plum but leaving one juicy question still unresolved: What about the New York Yankees and CBS?

The speculation arose Tuesday following baseball's announcement that it had sold its first regular - season package, giving the American Broadcasting Co. the right to telecast nationally 25 Saturday and two holiday games in both the 1965 and 1966 seasons.

The money from the new undertaking, named the Saturday Spectacular, will be divided equally among the teams, bringing the 18 clubs participating in the venture about $300,000 a year in addition to revenue from local telecasts.

Two clubs with previous commitments — the Philadelphia Phillies and the CBS-owned Yankees — are not participants. The Phillies are expected to join before the start of the season and it is hoped the Yankees will join the rest of baseball for the 1966 season.

During the 1965 season the Yankees will be in direct competition with the other 18 clubs, 19 if the Phillies iron out their local sponsorship problem.

The Yankees, purchased last year by CBS, have a contract with the network that has been in existence for about 10 years, but runs out after the 1965 season. The past season the Yankees televised 22 home games on a national basis via CBS, receiving $550,000. They are expected to do the same in 1965.

John Fetzer, owner of the Detroit Tigers and one of the prime movers in the package arrangement with ABC, admitted the Yankees participation would have made the transaction more attractive and said: "We hope the Yankees will be included in 1966. But we are unable to determine that at the present time."

The Yankees said much the same through General Manager Ralph Houk.

"We have not committed ourselves one way or the other," he pointed out. "Our contract for this year with CBS is so much better than what the others are to get, we would have to study the proposition when we are no longer committed to our present contract."

Under the terms of the contract for the Saturday Spectacular, the clubs will get $5.7 million the first year and $6.5 million the second—equivalent to $300,000 per team the first year and $325,000 the second time around.

One of the main features of the Saturday Spectacular is that there will be no blackout anywhere except in the cities of the two teams playing. The game will be televised into all areas of the country, including cities which have major league teams.

Previously no game was permitted to be televised into an area within a 50-mile radius of a major league city.

Tom Moore, ABC president, said the schedule will be arranged before the start of the season but will be flexible so emphasis can be placed on the

GLADSTONE Grain Moves By Soo Unit Train

Unittrains, solid trainload lots of grain transported from one origin to one destination with extraordinary efficiency, will begin moving over the Soo this week, marking the start of the second season for this unique rail service.

UT-1, the first such train, is expected to leave the Soo's Superior, Wis., terminal about dinner time today. It will consist of some 5,000 tons of wheat — 180,000 bushels — consigned by International Elevator Co. from its Duluth elevator to its flour milling facilities in Buffalo, N.Y. The train will move without intermediate weighing or inspection of the contents, and with a minimum of handling, over the Soo to Chicago and then over the Pennsylvania Railroad to Buffalo. Arrival in Buffalo will be early Thursday morning.

Unit grain trains were inaugurated last year by the Soo, the Pennsylvania and International Milling. Seventeen unittrains originated on the Soo at Superior-Duluth between Jan. 9 and March 6, 1964, and moved a total of 1,594 cars (some 3 million bushels) of wheat to Buffalo. The service marked the first application to the transportation of foodstuffs of a high-volume, high-efficiency use of rail transportation that until then had been used only in the transportation of such commodities as coal and ores.

"The unit train operation this winter should be both broader in scope and larger in total size," said Kenneth J. Sherwood, Soo vice president, traffic. "To begin with, we are discussing the use of the unittrain principle with a number of grain firms and are planning to operate trains for several of them. We also have arranged to include rye and barley in the unittrain tariff as well as wheat. And by mid-January, we should have a unittrain running which is using the Soo's 50 new special grain hopper cars to supplement trains of 95 conventional grain box cars."

Grain moving in unit trains moves under considerably stricter regulations than grain moving in conventional carload lots. The "unit" must consist of at least 4,950 tons of grain tendered only by a single shipper on a single bill of lading on a single calendar day. It can be shipped only to a single receiver at a single destination. The shipper has 24 hours to load the train after it is placed at his elevator. The receiver has 24 hours to unload the train after it arrives or pay a penalty of $475 per day for delaying the equipment.

Principally because of the efficiency of the unit train principle, the unittrains last year were able to move wheat in 180,000-bushel lots the 1,200 miles to Buffalo and then return to Duluth for another load in less than a week — and, in the case of one train, in five days. Normal turnaround time for grain cars in non-unit train service is two to three weeks.

Hare's Managers Told To Resume Party Donations

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare asked his branch managers to resume contributions to the Democratic Party Tuesday after a "full and frank" discussion with party chairman Zolton Ferency.

Earlier this month Hare asked the managers to withhold contributions until campaign fund allocation could be reviewed.

Ferency refused to comment on any aspect of the meeting. Hare issued a two-sentence written statement, then left his office.

The statement said: "I have had a full and frank discussion with party chairman Zolton Ferency and we have reached an understanding. Based on that understanding I am asking the branch office managers to resume making voluntary contributions should they so desire."

The more than 200 managers, political appointees, contribute about 20 per cent of party funds, by Hare's estimate.

Hare had complained the party was not giving enough financial help to lower-level candidates or those in close races.

Ferency had said Hare was not aware of recent campaign fund procedure changes—which he refused to discuss. The matter had been brought up Thursday at a party financial committee meeting.

Tech Board OKs 200 Student Wing For Wadsworth

HOUGHTON — Construction of a new wing on Wadsworth Hall for men and enlargement of kitchen facilities in Douglass Houghton Hall were approved by the Board of Control of Michigan Tech Saturday. Tentative approval was given for construction of two 60-unit residence halls for women, pending adequate financial arrangements. The Wadsworth wing, which increases the capacity of the hall by 200 students, is to be completed by September, 1966.

The construction program was authorized in order to keep up with the University's growing enrollment, which has set new highs for five consecutive years. All three projects are self-liquidating and will not be financed by tax funds. Income from rentals and usage will be used to retire bonded indebtedness.

The Board of Control also authorized additional dormitory space for 35 men at the Ford Forestry Center in Alberta. Tech uses the center for summer camps for forestry students and other year-round instructional purposes, including Manpower Development Training Act programs.
